3 Subject content

OxfordAQA International GCSE English Literature provides opportunities for students to develop knowledge and skills in reading, writing and critical thinking. Through literature, students have a chance to develop culturally and acquire knowledge of the best that has been thought and written. This qualification offers students the opportunity to read a wide range of literature fluently, critically and with good understanding, so that they are able to discuss and explain their understanding and ideas in detail and appreciate the depth and power of literary texts. Studying International GCSE English Literature should encourage students to read widely for pleasure, and be a strong preparation for studying literature at a higher level.

Our range of texts has been selected to reinforce the principles behind the specification, whilst at the same time offering teachers the flexibility to design courses which reflect the interests and contexts of their specific cohorts.

Students should study a range of high quality, intellectually challenging, and substantial whole texts in detail.

These must include:

- at least one whole prose fiction text
- at least one whole drama text
- a selection of poetry.

3.1 Prose and drama

3.1.1 Prose fiction

Students will study one novel from the list of set texts. Students should study the whole text.

Choose one of the following:

- Charles Dickens: Great Expectations
- Harper Lee: To Kill a Mockingbird
- Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie: Purple Hibiscus
- Kazuo Ishiguro: Never Let Me Go
- Markus Zusak: The Book Thief
- OxfordAQA Exams Short Stories Anthology.

3.1.2 Drama

Students will study one play from the list of set texts. Students should study the whole text.

Choose one of the following:

- William Shakespeare: Julius Caesar
- William Shakespeare: Macbeth
- J B Priestley: An Inspector Calls
- Arthur Miller: The Crucible
- Lorraine Hansberry: A Raisin in the Sun

3.2 Route A: Poetry and unseen texts

3.2.1 Poetry

Students will study the OxfordAQA Exams Poetry Anthology People and Places. The 20 poems in this anthology are thematically linked in a variety of ways, allowing students to study a range of connected and linked ideas and themes from poets and poetry from different times and contexts.

3.2.2 Unseen poetry

In preparing for the unseen poetry section of the examination students should experience a wide range of poetry in order to develop their ability to closely analyse poems. They should be able to analyse and compare key features such as their content, theme, structure and use of language.

3.2.3 Unseen Prose

In preparing for the unseen prose section of the examination students should experience a wide range of prose texts in order to develop their ability to closely analyse the variety of ways writers create meanings and influence the reader.

3.3 Route B: Poetry and non-exam assessment

3.3.1 Poetry

Students will study the OxfordAQA Exams Poetry Anthology People and Places. The 20 poems in this anthology are thematically linked in a variety of ways, allowing students to study a range of connected and linked ideas and themes from poets and poetry from different times and contexts.

3.3.2 Unseen poetry

In preparing for the unseen poetry section of the examination students should experience a wide range of poetry in order to develop their ability to closely analyse poems. They should be able to analyse and compare key features such as their content, theme, structure and use of language.

3.3.3 Non-exam assessment

The alternative non-exam assessment option to unseen prose gives teachers freedom of choice in texts, allowing them to choose those best suited to the interests and needs of their candidates. It also gives teachers freedom to select tasks for their candidates that enable them to explore a full text in detail. It therefore provides an invaluable preparation for higher level study.

Candidates will study a substantial whole prose fiction text. This text must not come from any of the prescribed set texts for this qualification. The text can be selected from any literary period and can include seminal world literature. This component will be internally-assessed.

The non-exam assessment option allows a different approach to the study of literature. Some students benefit from the more open-ended possibilities of deeper research and exploration. Teachers may use this option to promote students' independent study, or they may use the option to create threads of meaning and coherence that link to the texts studied for the examined components.

When selecting a suitable text for non-exam assessment, teachers will have the freedom to choose from the literary canon of the British Isles or seminal world literature. The text selected must be similar in quality, scope and challenge to those from the prescribed list of set texts on Paper 1. Teachers will assess their students' work using the same mark scheme and assessment objective weightings for the qualification, therefore the selected text needs to have the necessary range, scope and level of challenge in order to allow students to access the assessment objectives.
